Barnfield Education—educating the future today

April, 2018

Best Wishes To BEP Admin Officer—Ivis Williams Standing As A Labour Party Local Councillor For Woolwich Common In The May 3rd Election!

Welcome to the seventh edition of BEP Newsletter. This edition carries many good news including highlights on positive improvements in the way that BEP operates. Firstly, it's my pleasure to published in this newsletter, a good luck message for the first ever Barnfield Estate resident Labour Councillor candidate for Woolwich Common. This is a positive development in the right direction for Barnfield Estate and our community at large therefore, I would personally appeal to you Barnfield residents, BEP parents and carers to go out and vote for this BEP Admin officer—Ivis Williams on May 3rd local elections. She has been working so hard to support our young people and has also been an advocate for Barnfield young people's education and for a positive change in Barnfield Estate—This is the time to rise up as a unified people to put someone who can argue our case and raise our concerns in the council's corridor of power! Let's act now!!

Secondly, I am also delighted to inform Barnfield residents and BEP parents that our petition to Friends Of Barnfield Big Local Partnership for free Saturday school tuition to Barnfield children and young people was successful. Since February 2018 our Saturday school provision is FREE TO BARNFIELD RESIDENTS —thanks to Barnfield Big Local Partnership! Due to high demand, spaces for Secondary school students is full at the moment however, BEP operates on a waiting list system therefore, parents are welcome to put their children's name on the waiting list for consideration when space becomes available. We still have spaces available for Year 3 (Primary school) students. Parents are encourage to seize this opportunity and register their children at BEP Saturday school and also spread the good news to other residents with children in Primary or secondary school who might benefit from this free Saturday tuition.

Our partnership with Birkbeck University of London and the London Museum Continues to wax stronger. In November 25th BEP students were invited to take part in "Own Your City Family Festival" at the Museum of London. This event exposed our students to different learning strategies and new experience outside the classroom. BEP education successfully organised a family learning event in February 2018 as part of its intergenerational learning programme. This event was facilitated by Birkbeck University of London.

BEP Saturday school is getting set to improve and move the learning process forward with new and innovative methods of teaching. With funding from the Barnfield Big Local Partnership, BEP will be introducing full technology in teaching as soon as our new tablets PCs arrived. Finally, a warm welcome to our new secondary school Science teacher who started with us last month. We are now in a better position to provide effective support to our students who are preparing for public examinations particularly, SATs, GCSE and A –Level exams. BEP motto is: "educating the future today." Our young people are our tomorrow's future hence, we are determine to educate, train and provide sound academic support that will enable them become better citizens and leaders of tomorrow.

Re-branding Barnfield Big Local.

Barnfield young people and BEP students were given the task to re-designed Barnfield Big Local logo. After several weeks of hard work, this is the amazing design two BEP students came up with. Many thanks guys for this creative design and for winning the prize!

Important information to parents

Attendance:

Please be reminded that once your child register with us, they are expected to attend Saturday school every weekend. You will still be charged if your child is absent, however we may discretionary waver the contribution if your child is off due to illness, this will be assess on a case by case basis. Unauthorised absence is not permitted in any form; if your child is not able to attend for any reason including sickness please, ring the school office and report your son/daughter's absence. Regarding punctuality, BEP takes punctuality very seriously, therefore; we are appealing to all parents to remind their children to get to class on time, classes starts 10:00am prompt!

Recently, we've noticed that some students attend Saturday school without their notebooks and pencil case; this is not acceptable! Your child must come to school with correct equipment. Primary students must bring the recommended textbooks plus notebooks and a complete pencil case—parents should endeavour to provide all necessary resources to their children.

Reporting absence:

To report your child's absence, call the school phone number. Make sure you leave a message by 9:30am, we require (i) your child's name (ii) year group (iii) reason for absence.

Contact details

Please ensure we have your correct contact details in case we need to contact you during an emergency. These should include:

- The name of parent/carer
- The address where the child is staying
- Full contact details for the adult responsible for your child.

Keeping us informed of your child's progress.

Please ensure that we have your child latest school report on file so we can give your child full support to help them improve in their mainstream school work and grades.

Learning Outside The Classroom:

November 25th was such a great day with good memories for BEP students as they alight the coach with excitement at the London Museum in central London.

Immediately after registration at the desk was a non-stopped learning activities that had been previously arranged for BEP students by the event organisers. We rotated from one learning activity to another; some for discoveries, some for observation of our city now and then with students trying to track the trends of rapid innovation that has transform our city to what we have now. Students had an opportunity to consider the effect global warming to our city and how our city and environment could be salvage through recycling and the use of eco-friendly power. They took part in artwork where they were taught the techniques of designing and making flower pots from recycling materials—see picture below.

This was an exciting and a practical way of learning artwork using very unusual materials. Students were allowed to take their flower pots back home as a souvenir to their parents. Science teaching was also amazing as students explores the concept of mars.

Later this year BEP will bring the Museum learning experience into the classroom at Barnfield Saturday school. As partners with the London Museum, this is one of the benefits available for us to enjoy as a well-known supplementary school. In fulfilling our aims and objectives as a supplementary school, we will continue to provide effective support to our students in a way that will help them develop academically and socially as leaders of tomorrow.
